

Optimize your gas equipment stock. Gain control and save money.

What is ACCURA® gas management?

Managing gas equipment is easy, effective and secure when you use ACCURA® gas management for equipment. We offer a straightforward web-based service that enables you to track and utilize information about the status of your gas equipment throughout your entire rental stock.

Linde's rental items have a identification tag which is used in our daily operations. The tag and the information registered in the ACCURA® service give you readily access to detailed records on each and every rental item. ACCURA® gas management for equipment means improved utilization and cost efficiency as well as higher levels of quality and safety.

Why is ACCURA® gas management the right solution for your company?

Today, the ACCURA® service is used by many large offshore companies with operations both on- and offshore. This requires a high demand of detailed information on several sites.

Our customers use ACCURA® gas management for the following benefits:

Increased productivity

- Monitor and improve cylinder utilization
- Reduce internal administration

Improved safety

- Reduce number of cylinders on site
- Locate hazardous cylinders immediately in an emergency situation

Reduced expenses

- Reduce "lost" gas cylinders and the related charges
- Increased cost control
- Determine the best balance between lease agreements and daily rent

Quality and traceability

- Run detailed reports and display on screen or download as a spreadsheet
- Trace individual cylinders used at various stages of production
- Possibility for automatic email reports periodically

Report functions

The reports from the ACCURA® gas management is accessible online or can be automatically sent to your email periodically by your own choice.

- Total cylinder balance (could be specified as rig overview – see illustration above)
- Returned rental products
- Days on rental
- Safety information
- Medical shelf life
- Search engine functionality

How to get started?

ACCURA® gas management is accessible through our web and can be used on different devices. Linde professionals will work with you to customize the system to your facilities and unique requirements. Training sessions and customer support contact information are provided to make sure that you get the most value out of the system.

Contact your local sales representative for further details and a demonstration of the system!
